

Be an early Bird... and start your Career!

- a lecture for international Master and PhD-students

You have just started your Master or PhD in Giessen? Congratulations!

Now that you have taken your first steps at university, it makes sense to think about your plans for the future.

Our lecture will give you an overview of your possibilities and chances as graduates entering the German job market or starting your career in academia and science.

We will provide information about ways to plan your next steps and show you why it is worth starting with this as soon as you can.

You will find the upcoming events here:
